

Principles of Biomedical Sciences

School: SoCal ROC
Course ID: 435
Availability: Call 310-224-4200

Short Description

Are you planning a future in medicine? Explore a range of careers in Biomedical Sciences.

Description

This course introduces students to seven major human body systems: cardiovascular, digestive, endocrine, immune, nervous, respiratory and urinary. Students will also learn about the circulatory system, the effects a disease within one system can have on the body as a whole, the inheritance of traits, the function of cholesterol in the body and its role in heart disease, bacteria and viruses, and medical interventions.

Prerequisites

None

On the Job Training

No

UC Credit

UC/CSU Approved "d" requirement

Course Locations

SoCal ROC

Address: 2300 Crenshaw Blvd., Torrance, CA 90501 U.S.

Phone: 310-224-4200